Policy requirements

This Policy has been approved by the Melbourne Archdiocese Catholic Schools (MACS) Board for application in each MACS school and must be customised for use in each particular school in accordance with the instructions outlined in this Framework.

Training should be conducted on this policy for all staff when it is introduced and new staff should receive training on this policy as part of their induction. It is advisable that all staff receive regular refresher training on this policy (recommended annually). It is also important that the School ensures that contractors or volunteers who work at the School are made aware of this policy.

The School should ensure that a copy of this policy is provided to all new staff during their induction and that copies are readily available to all staff and contractors, such as via the School intranet and displayed on the OHS Noticeboard in the staffroom.

There is a legal requirement for employers to consult with Health and Safety Representatives and employees on health and safety matters that will or are likely to directly affect their health, safety or welfare. Consultation does not have to mean agreement, however, there must be an opportunity for sharing of information, giving employees a reasonable opportunity to express their views and take into account those views.

You can consult with employees in a number of ways including at team meetings, health and safety committee meetings or one-on-one discussions. It is important to record notes associated with these meetings, who was present (we recommend signed attendance sheets), when they were held, what the topic for discussion was etc.
